

BROOKLYN WOMEN'S BAR ASSOCIATION PRESENTS:

"1,000 Graduates Later – A Report on the Brooklyn Mental Health Court"

At this CLE, we will learn how the court works, the types of serious mental illness that is required for admission to the court and gain insight into charges, diagnoses, and treatment plans. The Mental Health Court keeps criminally accused defendants, living with serious and persistent mental illness, out of prison and in treatment. Brooklyn was the site of the first such court in New York State, and is a model for courts around the country and around the world.

Presenters:

Hon. Matthew J. D'Emic,
Presiding Judge of the Brooklyn Mental Health Court

Ruth O'Sullivan, LCSW,
Project and Clinical Director of the Brooklyn Mental Health Court

Joyce Kendrick, Esq.,
Supervising Attorney, Brooklyn Defender Services

David Kelly, Esq.,
Assistant District Attorney

Lauren Stossel, M.D.
Psychiatrist, Rikers Island
